

3-4 Summer Reading Tic-Tac-Toe

Sit under a tree and read to build your stamina.

Tell a friend your favorite part in your book.

Discuss or write a short summary of the story. Include the beginning, middle, and end.

Have a book picnic in the park. Lay a blanket down and read.

Ask yourself if the text is fiction or nonfiction. How do you know?

Discuss or write about the main idea of the story.

Read with someone younger than you. Discuss how the pictures help tell the story.

Read with a flashlight. Highlight places where punctuation is used for effect.

If you could ask the main character three questions, what would they be?

Make a prediction about an event that you believe will happen next in your chapter.

Discuss or write about a lesson you learned from a book you've read.

Read while wearing sunglasses.

If you were writing a nonfiction book, what text features would you use in your book?

Write or discuss 3 questions you would ask the author of a story you've read.

Talk or write about the setting in the story and explain why it is important.

Read a book and then act it out with friends or family.

Talk or write about the problem in the story. How was it solved?

Read a book by your favorite author.

Design a new cover for a book.

Reread your favorite picture book. What was the author's message?

Would you recommend this book to a friend? Why or why not?

Read to a pet or stuffed animal. Think about how the setting affects the story.

What is something you can figure out about the story that the author didn't tell you?

Read at the library.

Read a nonfiction book and write or talk about 3 facts you learned.